

I think it is not right you are exempting radio and TV stations from the no call list. Any time you open the door, you think it won't happen but they will find a way/approach to circumvent the rules. For you to do this is not right.

In addition, I think it is incredibly irresponsible to expand the rules of ownership. You are NOT expanding the measure, you are putting control of the media in restricted hands that CAN manipulate/regulate the message. If it can happen, it usually does. For you to suggest otherwise, begs of the question of "Who do you represent? Me or the huge media companies." Your actions do not represent me.
